Zionists Here For "Cleanup"

Wilbur G. Voliva, Zionist Head, Sends Emissaries to Madison, Report

PLAN WIDE CAMPAIGN

Would Moralize Northwest; Deaconesses to Work Here, Dispatch

A "reformation" of Madison as the first step in a "clean up" of the Northwest, by Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of the Zionists as Zion City, Ill., is promised in a dispatch received by The Capital Times from Chicago today. Two associates of Voliva, who have been carrying out such a campaign in New York, are enroute to Madison, according to the dispatch, and will begin activities at once.

No word has been received by Madison officials concerning the proposed "clean up". City officials, police headquarters, the district attorney's office, and university heads are at a loss to know what the meaning of the invasion of the anti-vice crusade can be. Today they expressed themselves as surprised to hear that there was so much vice in the city that a "clean up" is necessary. None of the officials have been informed of the intended visit of the Zionist leaders here.

It is said that the proposed anti-vice campaign in Madison will be the initial step toward a projected campaign to moralize the entire Northwest. The two Zionists, who are coming to Madison, are working under orders from Voliva, it is said. It is expected that they will reach Madison tonight. A Chicago dispatch today says:

Deaconesses Belle Schelhorn and Helen Buhmann, who spent six months in New York a year on behalf of Overseer Voliva and brought back the report that "New York is no worse than Chicago, but is bad enough" have left for Madison, to undertake the reformation of the university town.

Consternation struck city and university officials like a thunderbolt. None of them knew of the plan to "clean up the university town."

"I haven't heard a thing about it," said Prof. E. A. Birge of the university, last night. "They haven't reported to me yet."

Scott H. Goodnight, dean of men at the university, was astonished at the announcement. When told of the visit here, he replied:

"Why, I'll be glad to have the university students know it. It is news to me. I hadn't heard about it before."

Mayor I. M. Kittleson said he did not know anything about the campaign here. He said he did not know what Voliva would send his workers here for.

Chief of Police Shaughnessy had not been advised of the proposed clean up. He said he hadn't heard a word from them. Dist. Atty. T. G. Lewis had not heard of the campaign.

Rail Crisis May Be Settled, Hope As Unions Meet

Chiefs of Big Four Brotherhood Meet U. S. Labor Board

BULLETIN.

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO—The prospective railroad strike cannot be postponed but it can be settled. This was the opinion of the Big Four Brotherhoods chiefs and the president of the switchmen's union after a conference this morning.

Despite the optimism in Brotherhood circles, J. M. McGrath, vice president of the Railway Employes department, A. F. of L., declared before the Labor Board hearing in the Pennsylvania case began that a strike seemed to him to be certain. The shop crafts have voted to strike but have not issued strike orders. Twenty-two railroads have violated labor board decisions, McGrath said and the men are insistent on walking out.

N. P. Good, chairman of system federation No. 90, on the Pennsylvania lines, anounced that he had ordered a new strike vote taken among all shop employes on the Pennsylvania lines both union and non-union and that the shopmen would not strike until the result of this ballot is known.

CHICAGO—Chiefs of the Big Four Brotherhoods and the switchmen's union arrived this morning and went into conference preparatory to their meeting this afternoon with the U. S. Railroad Labor board. Union headquarters was optimistic and there was a strong feeling that there will be no strike unless something unexpected occurs to disrupt the conference this afternoon.

Present at the Union conference were W. S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; L. E. Shepard, president of the Order of Railway Conductors; W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen; W. S. Carter, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, and T. C. Cashen, president of the Switchmen's Union of North America.

The eleven so-called "standard unions" marked time today awaiting the outcome of the labor board meeting. While a few of their general chairmen met to discuss strike plans, the majority crowded the hearing rooms of the labor board to see the Pennsylvania Railroad cited for failure to obey the board's order.

Plans to operate passenger, mail and milk trains are being pushed by railroad executives in event the strike takes place. From the ranks of men recently laid off, pensioners, loyal veterans and others with railroad experience, officials here today declared they could recruit nearly half a million men. Roads entering New York were advertising for men to fill positions which may be vacated, and roads entering Chicago are expected to take the same course within the next few days.

Police Find Clue To Trace Origin Of Herrick Bomb

Threat Letter Discovered; Revenge Motive is Seen in Action

BULLETIN

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS — Retaliatory measures in the event of the execution of the two Italians, Sacco and Van Zetti, convicted of murder in Massachusetts are threatened against the American Consulates in Paris, Bordeaux, Lyons and Marseilles, in letters received at those consulates today signed by communist organizations.

Similar threats were made against the offices of the American Reparations commission and the American Passport bureau Paris, in letters sent to those offices. Strong police guards were placed around the American consulate and the reparations and passport bureau office here this evening.

Alexander M. Thackara, American consul general, received a letter from a communist organization in a small town near Lille declaring that Americans in France would be the object of retaliatory measures if the executions took place.

Authorities believe there is a general plot against all American officials in France.

Forty six additional letters of protest in connection with the convicted men were received by Ambassador Herrick this afternoon.

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS—French experts examining several hundred letters sent recently to Myron T. Herrick, the American ambassador, today discovered one which they believe may furnish a clue in tracing the maker of the bomb which exploded in Mr. Herrick's home here yesterday evening.

The letter was addressed to the ambassador personally and contained a threat to kill him.

The experts today believed they saw a similarity between the handwriting of the letter and that the the address on the box which contained the bomb. The letter indicated that the author was an uneducated Frenchman. At the top of the sheet were the words "Sacco and Vanzetti" written in large letters. These names evidently refer to Nicolo Sacco and Bartholomoe Van Zetti, two Italians who were convicted of first degree murder by a Massachusetts court last summer.

The letter said:

"As the representative of your country you are a party to the persecution of Sacco and Vanzetti and you are, therefore, jointly responsible for their execution. I have in my power scientific means of sending you to the same destiny together with your whole household."

The letter was signed "A Scientific Man Who Will Work Alone."

Details of Story Are Aired in Libel Suit Against Chicago Paper

E. J. LAWRENCE ON STAND

Jury here Returns Judgment Today in Action Against Evening American

Sixty thousand dollars damages was awarded to Edward J. Lawrence, by a circuit court jury Thursday afternoon in his $125,000 libel suit against the Chicago Evening American Publishing Co. Of this amount the jury granted $25,000 for compensatory damages and $35,000 punatory damages.

Testimony and arguments in the $125,000 libel suit of Edward J. Lawrence against the Chicago American were closed this morning and at 10 o'clock the jury retired, following instructions by Judge E. Ray Stevens. The suit is the result of the publication of certain statements by the American concerning the death of Richard S. Lawrence, who was killed by a Northwestern train at the foot of South Broom st. March 21, 1918.

The jury must determine, according to the instructions of Judge Stevens, what damages the plaintiff is entitled to and also the amount of punitory damages if the jury finds that the American was malicious and wilful in its publication of the articles referred to in the suit.

Attorneys for Lawrence declared today that the American Publishing company cannot carry the case to a higher court because the company failed to defend the action.

Edward J. Lawrence was in his office at the time when Richard S. Lawrence, his uncle, was killed by a train at the foot of S. Broom st., March 21, 1918. He did not identify his uncle until the body was at the Powers' undertaking rooms. Mr. Lawrence did not make midnight trips to the grave of his uncle at Forest Hill cemetery, nor did he purchase an automobile, using diamonds as part payment. Neither did he suddenly become wealthy after the death of his uncle.

These facts were established Wednesday afternoon when testimony was given in the circuit court, in the $125,000 libel suit brought by Mr. Lawrence against the Chicago Evening American Publishing Co., for alleged libelous statements published with regard to Mr. Lawrence's part in the so-called Orange Diamond Mystery.

A jury, sitting on the case, will today determine the amount of

Asks $28,000 More to Administer Teacher Law

The new $1,000,000 teachers' retirement fund law will require $28,000 more for administration than provided in the $12,000 appropriation authorized by the last legislature, the annuity board has decided. Request is being made to the emergency board for the needed $28,000. The board has not yet decided whether it will approve the grant, and has asked Henry Johnson, state treasurer, to investigate. It has been found that $12,000 is totally inadequate to provide for administration of the law during the first year, according to determination of the directing annuity board. School district officers have been advised not to send further funds from teachers' salaries to the state treasury until specially prepared blanks are received, on which they can make their reports. The board wishes to have its organization in shape to expedite all matters pertaining to the new insurance.

Duty of State to Stop Cruelty Says Frederick

PHILADELPHIA—It is the distinct duty of the state to protect from cruelty its human and animal life, A. E. Frederick, Wisconsin state humane agent, said today in a speech before the American Humane Association here. This duty cannot be denied or rightly shirked, he said.

The Wisconsin humane officer pointed out that Wisconsin is in the lead in establishing state aid for humane work, with few states as yet having a distinct department such as exists here. Wisconsin after two years hardly affords a basis for expression of positive opinion on its success, he said. "The appointment of a humane agent as an officer of the state means more than financial support. It means that humane work becomes a duty of the state. It constitutes a genuine recognition of the real worth of the entire humanitarian movement."

Hog Cholera Is Breaking Out In 52 State Points

State Department Urges Campaign to Prevent Heavy Losses

A serious outbreak of hog cholera in 52 Wisconsin points is reported today by the state department of agriculture through Dr. J. T. Purcell. The department is appealing to all swine breeders for cooperation in an effort to prevent a disastrous outbreak, such as seems emminent.

Heavy losses from the disease are reported in Kenosha, Racine, Milwaukee, Waukesha, Washington, Dodge, Fond du Lac, Green Lake, Manitowoc, Eau Claire, St. Croix, Columbia, Iowa, Grant, LaFayette, Walworth, Rock and Dane counties. The larger portion have occurred during September and early October.

The department says that excellent results obtained in controlling cholera through proper use of serum and virus seems to have caused stock men in many communities to consider the disease practically eliminated. There is grave danger that this attitude may result in a general outbreak, causing great loss.

When cholera appears it must be presumed that it has been carried to the hogs from some other infected form, according to the department, since there is said to be no other way in which the disease can be carried. Precaustionary measures are advised to guard against spread of the disease from outside areas.

Vaccination and confinement of infected animals to distant parts of the farm are recommended, as well as dipping and spraying. An early diagnosis is the only hope of preventing a heavy loss, the department says, advising that an experienced veterinarian or official of the department be called as soon as symptoms of cholera appear.

Makes New Attempt To Obtain Sales Tax

WASHINGTON—Another appeal for enactment of a manufacturers sale tax was heard today in thesenate. Sen. Edge, Rep., N. J., indorsing the sales tax plan, declared that in addition to keeping the surtax minimum rate down to 32 per cent and repealing the excess profits taxes he would do away with one of the so-called excise tax and nuisance taxes. The Ne w Jersey senator's assault on the compromise plan to increase the maximum surtax rated to a general debate on the Republican side of the chamber. Sen. Lenroot declared "that the so-called agricultural bloc is not in charge of this so-called compromise." Sen. Lenroot also declared committee compromise surtax plan "actually reduced the taxes on all incomes below $86,000" as compared with the rates proposed by the finance committee.

Cousins Warns Bankers To Beware of Wildcats

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—The period of depression through which Wisconsin banks have been passing during the last year has nearly been traversed and at the next call the total deposits of the state will hold their own or show a slight gain, Marshall Cousin, commissioner of banking, said in addressing the Wisconsin chapter of the American Institute of Banking convention. Mr. Cousins advised delegates to investigate all stock propositions offered in their territories. He characterized the old "green goods" and "gold brick" games as rankly amateurish compared to some of the wildcat stock schemes now being floated. A. J. Stelmic, Sheboygan, was chosen president of the organization and George D. Bartlett, secretary-treasurer.

Germany Seeks More U. S. Research Students

"Germany wants American research students; science is above war." This is the attitude in Germany as told by Dr. C. S. Leonard, who has just returned from a visit to foreign chemical laboratories, Wednesday night at the meeting of the Wisconsin section of the American Chemical society.

"The war has terribly crippled the chemical laboratories of England and France. England, by developing her own apparatus, and borrowing from the United States, is thriving in chemical research work.

Prof. J. E. Day explained two manganese problems, being worked on by modern chemists.

"Dollar Day" Is Held Big Success; Rain Is Handicap

Despite Drizzle in Afternoon Crowds Jam Local Stores

Madison's "Dollar Day" was a success, according to shoppers and merchants. Both pronounced the day as the best cooperative enterprise ever staged in the city. The drizzling rain that fell during the entire afternoon Wednesday, was a handicap but failed to prove a serious check to buyers.

So large was the business in some of the stores that extra help had to be hired, and from the middle of the forenoon on, Dollar Day stores did a heavy business.

Many of the out-of-town shoppers made a day of it, coming into town early in the forenoon and winding up with a visit to a theater at night. Merchants taking part in the affair expressed themselves as well pleased with the results.

New Plot Seen In Move Made In North Dakota

Injunction is Served Against State Bank and the Governor

JAMESTOWN, N. D.—The state controlled Bank of North Dakota, Gov. Lyn J. Frazier and other officials of the state, and the Bank Today, were enjoined not to receive deposits of public or private funds in the banks. A temporary writ of injunction was issued by Judge J. A. Cooey in the Stutsman county district court.

The injunction, issued on petition of a number of taxpayers, will be up for hearing Nov. 3 as to whether it shall be made permanent.

The injunction followed a statement by officials of the bank that state bonds totalling $6,100,000 had been sold, of a large part would be available for farm loans and to take up advances to other state projects, the state flour mill, and elevator and home building schemes.

State officials, affected by the injunction, declared it was a political move by their opponents to affect the recall election directed against Gov. Frazier and others, scheduled for Oct. 28.

Wisconsin Potatoes Bring Higher Prices

Wisconsin potatoes are bringing higher prices than those of surrounding states on the Chicago market this year because of state inspection, the department of markets announces today, following receipt of sales reports. These show that the Badger product for the first time has brought the top price.

The department has figures to show that prices paid for the Wisconsin potatoes are higher and that shippers are having more success in disposing of their product this year than before the inspection orders went into effect.

It says that a great deal of the objection to the grading and inspection comes from dealers or growers who desire to get rid of potatoes which are below the standard, without informing the purchaser of the fact. The purpose of the law is to prevent misrepresentation or concealment.

Several dealers who favor inspection point out, the department says, that unless there is grading, unscrupulous competitors will accept potatoes of inferior quality and size in order to get business. This competition, which is declared to be practised by traveling buyers from outside the state, is considered a detriment to the established warehouseman who are upholding the Wisconsin standard.

There is said to be a feeling in some sections of the state that the $2.50 fee per car is an added burden on the farmer, which the department says to be without basis because the charge represents only one-third of a cent on each bushel.

There will be a regular meeting of the Gun and Blade club Thursday night at 7:15 at the Union building. Important business.

Says Census and Crop Statistics Comparable

That the census of 1919, in most cases, showed a marked comparability with the estimates made by the U. S. Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates was brought out in the crop reporting conference on Wednesday. In a number of cases there was a considerable divergence in the two figures. Z. R. Pettet, of the Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates, pointed out that in many cases, comparison could not be made, since the estimates of the Bureau were based upon the 1909 classification which differed from the classification adopted by the 1920 census.

Prof. B. H. Hibbard, of the Agricultural Economics Department of the University of Wisconsin, called attention to the fundamental weakness of the census attributable to the method of appointing enumerators.

Prof. Andrew Hopkins spoke to the conference of the responsibility of agricultural leaders who have the facts to keep them before the public in order that a proper conception of the role of agriculture in American economic life be brought to the realization of all classes.

George B. McKerrow, president of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation, suggested to the conference that all material sent out by the Department of Agriculture be put in the simplest, most practical manner possible.

Prof. K. L. Hatch, director of Agricultural Extension Service for Wisconsin, emphasized the need of more complete world-wide agricultural statistics. The conference adjourned Wednesday afternoon. Washington officials left for Salt Lake City, Utah, where a meeting of the Western crop officials will be held.

THREE IN THIS FAMILY AIDED

Detroit Woman, Husband And Mother Take Tanlac With Remarkable Results

"I have just finished my grst bottle of Tanlac and the difference it has made in my feelings has certainly been a glad surprise to me," said Mrs. Fred Knorr, of 1205 Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.

"For three years past my stomach has been badly out of order and I have been in a weakened, run-down condition. I lost all desire for food and suffered so much from the formation of gas on my stomach that I often went all day without eating anything. My nerves became so shattered that I would lie awake for hours at night and get up mornings more tired and dull than when I retired. Many times a day I had to stop my housework, so utterly tired out I could not go another step.

"If it had not been for my mother coming to visit me from Rochester, N. Y., and getting me to try Tanlac I dread to think of how serious my troubles might have grown. Mother is now seventy years of age and yet she says that since taking Tanlac she feels like a woman of twenty-five. I noticed a wonderful change coming over me almost from the time I started taking Tanlac. My appetite and nerves are almost like new now and I am sleeping fine every night. I am so thankful to be on the road to recovery that I can't praise Tanlac enough. My husband is now taking Tanlac with splendid results, too. It certainly is grand medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Madison by the Luckey Pharmacies and by leading druggists everywhere.—Adv.

COULD NOT KEEP HOUSE

Without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Says Mrs. Pitts of Newburgh

Newburgh, N. Y.—"My trouble was a weak back and I could not walk two blocks without being tired out. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in a newspaper and decided to give it a trial. Now I can do my own work and walk with ease. I always keep the Vegetable Compound in the house. It certainly is my best friend and I could not keep house without it. I have recommended it to many and always shall. You may use this letter if you wish."—Mrs. EDWARD PITTS, 2 High St., Newburgh, N. Y.

It has been said that "backache is an invention of the Evil One to try women's souls," but even so, it is more often a symptom of a female trouble which sooner or later declares itself. Day after day it drags a woman down and night after night prevents restful sleep. Such woman should follow Mrs. Pitt's advice and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It contains no narcotic or harmful drugs.

Two Held In Poison Plot Case

Brothers Are Detained in Investigation of Candy Mystery

NURSES WILL RECOVER

Previous Attempts Made on Life of Chicago Hospital Employes

CHICAGO — William and Benjamin Zimmerman, brothers, were arrested last night by a squad from the detective bureau in connection with the mysterious box of poisoned candy sent Tuesday afternoon to nurses in the West End hospital.

The Zimmerman brothers have been attentive to Miss Helen Rosenfeld, the nurse to whom the candy was directed.

The six nurses who became seriously ill shortly after eating the candy—which chemists say was impregnated with cyanide of potassium—last night had all virtually recovered. This recovery was occasioned by the prompt attention which their cases received.

Simultaneously with the arrests investigators discovered that on other occasions attempts had been made to kill members of the hospital staff.

On March 4 of this year an Italian entered the hospital with a stiletto in his hand. He endeavored to attack Dr. Benjamin H. Breakstone, chief surgeon at the hospital.

The box came through the mail and was addressed to Miss Helen Rosenfeld, 17, student nurse. It contained home made "fudge," analysis of which by a laboratory expert was said to show that supposedly deadly poison permeated all of the candy.

Miss Rosenfeld came to America nine months ago from Austria and has been a student nurse in the hospital since that time. In the candy box was a typewritten note bearing the inscription:

"From a patient who was an ardent admirer. This candy was faithfully made."

The girl invited six other nurses to share the candy with her and within a few minutes all of them became ill.

One of the theories advanced by the postal authorities is that some jealous suitor sent the box to Miss Rosenfeld.

Hustad Died of Natural Causes, Doctors Find

That Arthur Hustad died of natural causes and not as a result of accident or by his own hand, is the conclusion of Dr. C. H. Bunting of the University and Doctors Daniel Hopkinson and E. L. Tharinger of Milwaukee, in a report made to Riley & Olin attorneys, this city, representing the Hustads, and to The Old Line Life Insurance Co., Milwaukee, following an autopsy over the body of the deceased. On April 7, 1920, Hustad was found in the barn on his farm near Mt. Vernon on his knees with the right side of his face and neck resting on a rope that had been hung from a rafter about a week previous to be used in dehiding a calf that had been butchered. The loop of the rope hung about 30 inches from the floor. He was unconscious when found and remained in that condition until he died on April 11. Mr. Hustad was insured in The Old Line Life Insurance Co. The policy provided for double payment in case of death by accident. Doctors Bunting, Hopkinson and Tharinger report that Hustad died of pneumonia, and abnormally scarred heart and complications, and that there was no strangulation. Apparently, says the report, the deceased either fainted and fell directly on his knees and the rope or pulled himself onto it after falling to the floor in an effort to regain his feet. Following the autopsy insurance was paid on the basis of death from natural causes.

Few Sick Cases at University, Clinic Report

General health conditions at the university is reported very good so far this fall according to information from the clinic.

"Outside of an epidemic of colds the first two weeks, there has been but very little sickness so far this fall," said Dr. Robert Van Valzah of the university clinic. "We had no serious cases, nor any of contagious diseases. Saturday's class rush did not yield many casualties."

The clinical staff is temporarily short-handed due to the loss of George C. Fahr, instructor in clinical medicine, who has accepted a similar position at the University of Minnesota which carries with it an associate professorship and a substantial increase in salary. Mr. Fahr left early in October for his new duties at Minneapolis.

"What is done with the physical examination and health record of the student was he leaves the University was a question asked Prof. Van Valzah. "They are filed away for future reference," he replied. "Scarcely a day passes but what we receive requests for information from the records by former students. Only yesterday we received letters from France, New York and China. There are some 42,000 individual records on file at the clinic office."

Outline Service And Needs of Local Sanitarium

Preparations Well Under Way for $125,000 Fund Drive

Preparations are now well under way for the $125,000 campaign for the Madison Sanitarium. The drive will be held Nov. 9 to 19.

In presenting the needs and the service of the sanitarium to the public, the committee in charge of the drive calls attention to the following summary:

Madison Sanitarium was established in 1902 and the present is the first time it has ever appealed to the public for help.

The present capacity of the institution is 50 beds. It is proposed to enlarge this to 100 beds.

The sanitarium expends approximately $100,000 yearly with Madison merchants for supplies and equipment.

Patients from outside of Madison number 75 per cent of the total treated yearly, thus bringing in additional money to be spent in Madison.

The sanitarium is, and always has been conducted on the "open door" policy, admitting persons of all creeds and race.

The present buildings, are 20 years old, are worn out and antiquated and must be replaced with new fire-proof structures.

The Theater

"No Woman Knows" Now at Strand, Was Filmed in Wisconsin

"No Woman Knows," a picture which was adapted from Edna Ferber's famous novel, "Fanny Herself," is now being shown at the Strand theater. Mabel Julienne Scott heads the list of all star players on the drama, which should be of special interest to Wisconsin people, because the picture was taken in this state at Winnebago. The story concerns a young girl who takes up the burden that killed her mother; the burden of providing for a brother, who is supposed to be a genius. How she meets temptation, withstands it and finds eventual happiness, occupies the screen with one of its strongest narratives. There is also being shown a "Snub" Pollard comedy.

AT THE ORPHEUM

Though Madison playgoers have been denied dramatic productions so far this season, local lovers of the drama will have their fill starting tonight, when Miss Mary Boland and associate players, present "$5,000," a one act playlet by Hilliard Booth, on the new Orpheum vaudeville program. Miss Boland has appeared here several times in support of John Drew, and is considered one of America's most finished actresses. Other acts of interest on this new bill will be Clarence Coley and Hattie Jaxon, with "Boney" in "The Minstrel and the aid"; Lucas and Inez, an art classic; Alf Ripon and Jiggs in "A Night at Dinty's"; Harry Berry and Miss, A Descriptive Revue of Versatile Doings; Sultan, an equine surprise and Pathe News—Aesop's Fables.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a boy of 15. We were playing ball in a vacant lot the other day and, when I batted, the ball struck a post and the fellows said it hit the cellar window on the rebound and broke it. There was a bunch of small kids playing, too, and I think one of them broke it, for some of them ran home. I didn't say anything, but somebody squealed, for the owner told my father and blamed it onto me. My father made me pay it out of my bank and then he whipped me with a buggy whip because I didn't mind him about not using a bat there. Now he won't let me even play catch in the lot. Do you think that is right?

I don't think I broke that window. I get blamed for things I don't do all the time. My sisters are 17 and 12 and they can do almost anything they like. Father is awfully mean and whips me for every little thing. My sisters tell on me and make things as bad as they can. I am not any worse than they are, but my mother never takes my part. I think I don't belong to them, for she tells on me and punishes me, too.

I wish you would tell me what to do. I hate every one of them. Should I run away and give them a chance to be sorry and want me back? I can find work for I am strong and I am not lazy.

WALTER A.

Since your friends said that you broke the window, the chances are that you did. The little children probably ran home because they realized trouble was ahead when the owner of the window discovered the damage done. Of course you made your mistake by disobeying your father and batting in the lot when he told you not to.

Your problem is no different from that of other normal, healthy boys. It is most difficult to stay out of trouble and to avoid punishments. Sisters have a way of squealing, and mothers remain silent when fathers punish. My only advice is to stay at home and try to please your parents. Before long you will be old enough to be one of the respected members of the family and you will not be punished so often. The more you try to please your father and mother the less apt you will be to do things which they consider wrong. To leave home would be very foolish because the hardships you would have to endure would befar worse than whippings at home.

You are not an adopted boy. Parents rarely adopt a child when they can have children of their own. Many boys and girls who have believed themselves to be mistreated have thought they were adopted, too. Back of every punishment your father gives you is a deep love for you and a strong desire to make you a splendid man.

"Flossie:" An envelope addressed and stamped should be enclosed when a personal letter is desired.

I would advise you to dismiss the young man from your mind, since your parents are so opposed to him. You are very young and in time you will find yourself in love with someone else.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Please give me a good shampoo for blonde hair. MRS. G. H. S. S.

Dissolve half a cake of white floating soap in a quart of boiling water. Let it simmer half an hour over a slow fire. Dissolve a tablespoonful of washing soda in a quart of boiling water. Add it to the soap mixture. Stir together and let cool. Use as a shampoo. Rinse the hair always in six clear waters after using a shampoo mixture. In the last rinse add the juice of half a lemon.

BILLY WHISKERS

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

Here's what the gypsy saw when she watched the camp after she had hid the little boy in the cave. A party of blue-coated men with stars on their breasts were just entering the camp. Those she knew to be the chief of police and his men, and that they were in search of the stolen child.

When she got back to camp she crawled under the back of one of tents and came walking out to make believe she had been there all the time. The chief was just saying:

"Your band has been accused of stealing Allen, the little three-year-old son of this gentleman," and he pointed to the gentleman on horseback who had ridden into the camp ahead of the police. "The little fellow disappeared from his father's yard where he had been seen playing a few minutes before your wagons passed, and persons say they heard a child crying in one of your wagons as you drove along the road. Now you will give up this child peaceably or we will search the camp and take him by force."

"We assure you we have not seen the child you are looking for, and to prove it we will give you permission to search our camp. If any person loses anything from a thimble to a child in a town through which a gypsy has passed he is accused of having stolen it. Give a dog a bad name and you know the rest. We are the most peace-loving honest people in the world though we are classed with tramps, and such lazy people who do nothing for a livelihood. It is really hard to bear this undeserved name when we work hard for every penny we have by mending old tins, sharpening knives, telling fortunes and selling herb medicine for horses and cows. But there is no use talking, people will persist in misunderstanding and abusing us, so go ahead and prove for yourself that we have no child hidden here."

The police fell to work and there was not a place big enough for a cat to crawl into that they did not explore. One of the searchers who was looking through the tent where the little boy had slept was not contented until he had poked under the pile of balsam boughs that had served as a bed, to see if anyone was hidden there. He found no one there, but what he did find that looked suspicious was a little child's shoe which looked too expensive to have been bought for a gypsy child. This was shown to the father and he pronounced it Allen's shoe. He knew the size and make.

When he said this the gypsy men loked sheepish and guilty, but not so the gypsy woman. She stepped forward and said that that pair of shoes had been given her for one of the gypsy children, by a lady that lived in the village. The lady lived in the big white frame house on the left side of the road, coming toward the mountains, which had a large yard around it.

This sounded quite true as the gentleman did live in just such a house, and he knew that his wife had a habit of giving clothing to gypsies and beggars who came along.

PROFESSIONAL WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

The Business and Professional Woman's club is looking for a place to meet. This was the important business discussed Wednesday evening at the regular meeting of the club. For some time the club has been meeting in the Presbyterian church, where their meals have been served at a small cost. This arrangement is no longer possible. Miss Annie Nunns also stated that it might be necessary to raise the dues which are now a dollar. This was opposed by many members who felt that a higher rate would detract from the democratic spirit of the club. Dean F. Louise Nardin suggested that a committee be appointed by the president to consider the problems at hand and offer a report to the club at the next meeting. This suggestion was adopted.

A report of the National Federation of Women's clubs was made.

Mrs. Charles Speth, Buried Here Today, Was Born When State Street Was Picnic Ground

Father Came to Madison in 1858 and Bought Home On State and Dayton Sts., Which was Then a Residential District; Wolden Block Was Then "Skyscraper"

Mrs. Charles J. Speth, whose death occurred Monday morning, might well be called one of the pioneer daughters of Madison. Her father, the late Conrad Heim, who located at Rochester, N. Y., in 1846, came to Madison about 12 years later and purchased a home on the corner of State and Dayton sts. The building is now occupied by the Unique shop and other commercial enterprises.

It was in this building that Mrs. Speth was born 62 years ago, and lived up to the time of her marriage in 1878. At that time State st. was a residence district, with only here and there a store.

The fire station was then, as now, located across the street from the Speth's home. At that time it was a volunteer department. The Wolden block, which still stands on the opposite corner of State and Dayton st., was at that time one of Madison's skyscrapers. The lower part of State st. which is now in the university congested section, was at that time a picnic ground.

There are a few of the old landmarks still standing. Among them the Schadauer home and the Schlimgen block, formerly known as Schette's corner in the 200 block.

A notable fact is that during Mrs. Speth's entire life she has lived on State st., her late home having been at the corner of State and Frances st. Mrs. Speth's life was to a great extent devoted to her family. Nine children were born to her and four preceded her in death. She was an active member of the Holy Redeemer church.

Mrs. Charles Speth.

The funeral was held at 8:30 this morning from the home and at 9 o'clock from the Holy Redeemer church. The Rev. E. J. Meyer officiated and burial was at Holy Cross cemetery. The pall bearers were N. P. Behrend, F. C. Blied, J. J. Grimm, Joseph Littel, F. W. Kehl and H. A. Heim

23,000 People In Possession Of Hoarded Wealth

M. B. Olbrich is Speaker Before the Kiwanis Club at Monroe

M. B. Olbrich was a speaker today before the Kiwanis club of Monroe. He again discussed the question of the soldier bonus. He said in part:

"Meanwhile, we who stayed at home in almost every case, put money in our pockets.

"If it be inherently wrong for the government to permit huge profits to swell the coffers of munition makers in time of war, it's equally wrong for the government to leave those profits undisturbed in time of peace.

"Here is one little group of men and we can conveniently treat them as a type, two one-hundredths of one per cent of the population who during the war have captured and now control 5 per cent of all the wealth of America. Almost enough to pay our entire national debt, enough to pay every soldier, sailor, marine and nurse $6,000.00 each.

"Why this group of 23 thousand people could pay the soldiers' bonus and it wouldn't mean discomfort, much less disaster even to them!

"When some one tries to talk you into opposition to the soldiers' bonus because as the New York Evening Post figures it recently $100 will be added to what the war already has cost every family in the United States, just keep this group whose riches outrun the wildest scope of Monte Christo's dream in mind. Just tell them that the soldier doesn't expect his compensation to be raised in just that way. He knows that 2 per cent of our population owns 65 per cent of our wealth. He knows that there are 55 hundred Americans who take toll from the natural resources and industry of this country at a rate in excess of a billion dollars per year or approximately $200,000 a piece pe year and that there are a hundred million people more who dig and drudge throughout a lifetime so that they may attain an average wealth of $1400 each and the American soldier and the American soldier's friends do not propose that we shall take a hundred dollars from the capital of the hundred million with their $1400 a piece, but they are in deadly earnest in their determination to take the solters' bonus from the billion dollar income of the 55 hundred."

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It is very easily prepared, and there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and disappear. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded.

Noonan In Fresh Assault On Three U. W. Professors

Declares Religion is Lacking in Teaching of University Men

GREEN BAY, Wis.— In a talk before members of the Knights of Columbus here Tuesday evening, Father Noonan attacked the methods used in teaching by Professors Ross, Lueba and Otto, of the University of Wisconsin.

Father Noonan, in assailing Prof. Ross, used a book, "The Principles of Sociology," written by Prof. Ross and the third chapter of this book Father Noonan pointed out that Prof. Ross encouraged birth control, and read abstracts from this chapter.

In the works or teachings of either of these three professors Father Noonan charged there has never been anything said or written in a religious light.

He used quotations of Prof. James Lueba, in which Prof. Lueba states that 72 per cent of the eminent educators of the country do not admit the existence of God and 65 per cent question the immortality of the soul.

"Allowing for exaggeration in these statements," said Father Noonan, "there is ground for alarm when we think of the future of our young men if such a large number of influential educators are adrift in the fundamental truth.

"It is to be feared that the youth of the country will be lacking in virtues that make good citizens."

By way of constructive thinking Father Noonan urged moral instruction in all schools.

"Education without religion and moral teaching turns into the world a monster, a man who may prove dangerous to civilization," said Father H. C. Noonan, before the Catholic Woman's club here Tuesday afternoon. The speaker said if he did not take exception to statement of Profs. M. V. O'Shea and E. A. Ross, he would be a coward.

"The state is not the sole educator," Father Noonan said. "The state is secondary, for the right of the parents come first. The state has its duty of supporting, not supplanting the family in the life of the world. Eliminate Christianity from education and we would have 10,000 Michael Vincent O'Sheas.

TUESDAY SET FOR DEBATE TRYOUTS

Honor System is Question to Be Used in Eliminations for Varsity

Preliminary tryouts for intercollegiate debating will be held Tuesday, Oct. 25, under the direction of Prof. J. M. O'Neill, chairman of the department of speech. The question selected for the tryouts is as follows: "Resolved, that final examinations at the University of Wisconsin should be conducted under the honor system."

All students entering the preliminary contest will register at Professor O'Neill's office.

Any contestant may speak for five minutes on either side of the question. The tryouts will be held in 165 Bascom hall, and the entrants will be divided into three sections, one to be conducted from 4:30 to 6 p. m., another from 7:30 to 9 p. m., and the third from 9 p. m.

The preliminary contest is being held much earlier this year than in the past. It is Professor O'Neill's intention to get the machinery in smooth working order by the beginning of the second semester.

It is probable that the varsity debates this year will be held under the decision plan. Negotiations are now under way with Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, and Northwestern to reach an agreement on this question. Last year the debates were held under the no decision plan. It was not popular at Wisconsin.

FREIGHT RATES CAN'T BE REDUCED TILL WAGES ARE, SAY RAIL HEADS

The calling of a strike by leaders of the railroad brotherhoods is the culmination of friction arising from the endeavor of railroad executives to bring labor costs down and the efforts of railroad employes to hold all the gains made during and since the war. That freight rates cannot possibly be reduced so long as wages remain up, is the contention of the rail heads. Yet they assert that rate reductions must be put in force to bring about an improvement in business conditions.

Traditions Will Be Considered In U. W. Fall Voting

Reapportionment of Senate Representation is Proposed

The proposed revision of traditions and reapportionment of membership in the Student Senate and Student Court by the various colleges instead of classes will be voted on at a referendum to be held at the fall election, November 11, according to a decision made at a meeting of the Senate last night.

The donning of the green cap at the Varsity Welcome, the discarding of the visor and red button, and making Cap Night an all-university function at which time the freshman will discard the green cap are among the measures to be voted on in the referendum. Whether or not a field day shall be held each year in which the freshman and sophomore classes shall participate will also be decided by the voters.

Elect From Colleges

Members of the Student Senate and the revived Student Court will be elected from the Colleges of Letters and Science, Agriculture, and Engineering, the Law school, the Course in Commerce, and the School of Medicine, according to the proposed measures to be submitted on November 11. This will not effect the position of freshman president, the Graduate school representative, or the board representatives.

Only qualified male voters of the senior, junior, and sophomore classes, and of the Graduate school will be permitted to vote in the referendum.

Enter Parade

Robert Stewart '23 was appointed chairman of a committee in charge of a senate float for the Union Memorial parade on November 5. George Stolley '22, and Jack Hurley '24 are the other members of the committee.

About 3,500 sample copies of the ballots to be used in the traditions referendum will be distributed among the voters as soon as possible, according to Sterling Tracy '22, president of the senate.

Tells of Bad Conditions For Students in Germany

The first meeting this year of the German club was held Wednesday night in Lathrop hall. Prof. Bayard Q. Morgan is president of the club.

A welcoming address was delivered by Prof. Alexander R. Morgan, chairman of the department of German in the university. He emphasized the deplorable condition of students in Germany. He said in part:

"Now that peace has been declared, we want to start the new year by organizing clubs of other universities to help the struggling students of Germany. It is the child and student who suffers the greatest, as they are non-productive. Before the war, they received $5 a month to keep body and soul together. Now it is just one- half that amount!"

Last year donations were received from the 60 members. Another purpose of the club is to meet and enjoy the German songs, literature and art.

Keep Looking Young

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.—Adv.

200 Join Y. W. C. A. in Membership Campaign

Over 200 girls have become members of the university Y. W. C. A. as a result of a membership campaign held last week. Quality rather than quantity was emphasized in an effort to secure a group of girls who are willing to live up to the Y. W. C. A. ideals and to cooperate.

"We feel very much encouraged and have reason to believe that the organization will accomplish a great deal in consequence of the splendid group of girls who have joined," said Katherine Wheeler '22, chairman of the membership committee. "The committees were unable to reach girls living in the outlying districts, and we will be glad to give them information regarding the work and membership in the Y. W. C. A., if they will call at the office in Lathrop hall.

Union Building Lauded In Talk By Prof. Gardner

Many Attend First Lecture on Salesmanship; Second Tonight

"The Memorial Union building of the University of Wisconsin will be one of the most beautiful structures in the country, the finest and best equipped union building of any college," said Prof. E. H. Gardner in his illustrated lecture to workers in the campaign for memorial funds in the auditorium of the Chemistry building Tuesday night.

This was the first meeting of a course in salesmanship for canvassers, and 300 men and women students were present. Coach John Richards also spoke. He stressed the fact that the Union building will bring back non-fraternity alumni to occasions like Homecoming, who would not come for lack of a place to stay.

The next meeting of the salesmanship class will be held today at 7:15 p. m.

Moving pictures of the University of Michigan union taken by Willet Kempton '2 a week ago were exhibited. They showed the union in use. Over 5,000 students are accommodated daily. Pictures of the Minnesota union were also shown.

"The plans for Wisconsin's union are not final," Professor Gardner stated. "As they now stand they include rooms for all organizations and publications, a theater, accommodations for alumni, the largest student dining room, billiard room, barber shop, and a dance floor that will enable students to dance from Park street to the Y. M. C. A."

Charts and diagrams were used by Professor Gardner in explaining the principles of salesmanship. He mentioned pride and enthusiasm as two prime factors in collecting the funds. "It is the duty of the canvassers besides raising the money to get the subscribers to use the union a students or alumni in the pirit of a unified Wisconsin," he said.

Badger Eleven Leaves For Urbana Tonight To Meet Sucker Team

Coach Takes 35 Men; Team Well Groomed For Foe

Richards Declares Team in Shape to Meet Illini; Game Saturday

Thirty five wearers of the Cardinal will leave Madison tonight for Urbana where eleven of them will line up against Coach Robert Zuppke's formidable team in the opening tilt of the Badger's second conference tilt of the season. It will be a charging line and a fast backfield which lines up on the first down and unless the Suckers have recovered in wonderful style from the injuries inflicted by the Hawkeyes last Saturday, the Illini will not be able to withstand the attacks of the Wisconsin eleven. Slowly the Badgers have been groomed under the tutelage of Big John until he has finally expressed himself satisfied with his efforts so far, and feels confident that Wisconsin will show herself a formidable contender for the championship of the Western Conference.

"This is a good Varsity team," said Coach John R. Richards last night after he had sent his Varsity against "Shorty" Barr's All-Americans in the hardest scrimmage of the year. "It was the best scrimmage thus far, and the line just roared."

"The Wisconsin football squad is going to give a good account of itself in this season's games. We may not go through the season undefeated, but any team that plays the Badgers will know that it has been in a game," continued Richards.

"The Northwestern contest last Saturday was not a real test for the line. It is improving and we can now say that at this stage of the season, Wisconsin is in as good condition as possible. The hospital list has diminished until there is not a man on the squad who would not be able to play against Illinois at Urbana.

At Best for Michigan

"The team will not be at its best, however, until the Michigan game. It will be a bellwether then, of course, barring accidents. Gradual improvement, not too fast nor too slow, has made this Varsity eleven a good fighting outfit."

With "Shorty" Barr calling Illinois plays against the regulars last night, a Wisconsin first eleven battled for 40 minutes on the wet Camp Randall practice field. The All-Americans were at the top of their game and they shot the Sucker formations at Varsity with speed and precision. The Badger forward wall snapped into play with aggressiveness that bespoke great improvement since the last time that Badger rooters saw the team in action.

About 35 men will compose the squad which has been chosen to make the trip to Urbana tonight. They are: Capt. Suhrt, Elliott, Williams, Gibson, Gould, Tebell, Brader, Branam, Horne, Irish, Taft, Bunge, Nelson, Christianson, Schernecker, Crozier, Woods, E. A. Carlson, G. Carlson, Hohlfeld, Gill, Johnson, Kellogg, Kiessling, Anderson, Collins, Benston, Yaudes, Gude, Paige, Sykes, Platten, Irons.

The large squad will board a Chicago and Northwestern train tonight, and after spending a night in the sleepers, will arrive in Chicago at 7:30 Friday morning. Transferring to a special car on the Illinois Central, the Badger outfit is due to roll into Champaign at 12 o'clock Friday noon. Wisconsin works out on the Illinois athletic field tomorrow afternoon. Immediately after the contest, the Badgers will hop a train at 6 o'clock Saturday and will arrive in Madison Sunday morning. As a display of Wisconsin spirit, students should give the squad a rousing reception upon its arrival in Madison.

These men, who are all on the team with the exception of Johnson, Eisle, Doyle and Joe Wrend, are expected to raise $2,000 by 2 p. m. Friday, when the campaign closes. A total of 581 more must be sold to reach the goal.

Tickets are now being sold for the Eau Claire game which will be started Saturday promptly at 1:30. Tickets may be obtained by seeing Coach Endres or applying at the office. They are selling these tickets to the public and to the students for 75 cents each. About 600 will be sold.

The junior-senior game was postponed Wednesday afternoon on account of rain. They will meet Monday night at 4:15 at Brittingham park.

Last Friday the two teams battled to a scoreless tie. The juniors are confident of winning. Hammes, quarterback, is the star of the juniors, on account of his tackling and side running.

ROUNDY'S CORNER

The local fans have been clamoring to see Otto Wallace in action here and Boyd had a sweet card lined up till DeBeau backed out of the match. He notified Boyd that he had a bad hand.

* * *

But fans believe that the trouble was in his feet.

* * *

Carl Leonard has finally been lined up to meet Wallace in the windup for this Friday night at Turner hall. Leonard has fought some tough boys and in Wallace he will face the most dangerous two-handed fighter he ever saw.

* * *

Wallace has been going back a little of late but he is still the king of the second raters by a large margin. He beat Boehme and there was not the slightest doubt on the decision.

* * *

If Leonard will mix matters with Wallace, then the show would be worth the price if it only went six or seven rounds. Around Milwaukee he can not get a fight on any of those cards. All managers nose it around fast that it don't pay to chance a comer with him as it might prove his finish.

* * *

George Arrah, who stopped Baxter Hall's fighter in the last fight here by throwing over a million gloves in his face, will tackle Johnny Evers of Chicago in the semi-windup. Both boys are just tough and like to mix and the fight should go over in good shape.

* * *

Bitney, the west side tornado, will mix matters with Diersey, a student who is a fair battler. Bitney is a big favorite and seems to like to fight. The six rounds should also furnish some slugging. Bitney has trained for this fight as if he was going to fight Leonard.

* * *

The fans like to see a boy train and step in the ring in the pink as it shows he wants to learn and condition is half the battle.

* * *

Leo Trainor, the smiling wessider, will mix matters with a boy named Schneider of Lodi. Trainor will have half the west in the house at bell time as his work is fast and clean.

* * *

As the show will call for popular prices, and as it is the first go of the winter season at Turner hall, the place should at least be nearly a sell-out.

* * *

The fighters will weigh in at Abaly's billiard parlors at o'clock Friday and a large crowd should be on hand to see the boys hop on the scales. You can also buy tickets at Abaly's till 8 o'clock the night of the fight.

* * *

Most fans do not understand why Boyd will not use the local Dummy on the card any more. He is a big favorite and can fight and the fans are stuck on his work.

The student body should make a nice showing at the fight. They take that act up down there and watching the classy boys at work out is a lesson for them.

Chips Meet Evansville 11 at Kipp Field Sunday

The Dorrell Chips team will meet Oregon here this Sunday at Kipp field. Oregon trimmed Evansville last Sunday, 33 to 0, they have a salaried team out there this year with about seven local men on the team and are out to trim the chips. It is a good bet that the chips before the season is over will be able to give anything in the state an argument. If they can draw good crowds here they will try to get the Green Bay packers or the Fairbanks Morse to show their wares here this season. No doubt the local team would bow down to defeat but not till after an interesting struggle. The local team after their hard game last Sunday and this week's practice will show the local fans a team on the field Sunday that has some class to it.

Washington and Tezzlaff have been added to the back field and with Schwoegler they pack about 170 pounds average in the back section. There are about 30 men out for the team and there will be a weeding out after this Sunday and some large teams with some records will be brought here to meet the Chips.

The boys are taking the whole outcome on their shoulders for the season. No one has agreed to back them up and they are looking for a large crowd this Sunday to greet them at Kipp field. They had a record last season that was a credit to any team. They have about closed contracts to have Woodstock, Ill., Oshkosh and Beloit play here this season, and this Sunday's crowd will either discourage the boys or give them some hope for their hard work.

May Take Truck Load To Game On Saturday

Anton Baltes, draymun, may take a load of students and city fans to the Wisconsin-Illinois game overland, it was reported Wednesday night. It is about a 260 mile trip. He will use his truck, which has been frequently used to carry Madison ball teams to neighboring cities to play.

M. H. S. Warriors Meet Formidable Foe In Upstaters

Yellow and Black Team Weakened by Injuries; -- Smith at Half

By RAY

The Madison high school grid stars had a "hard" scrimmage Tuesday afternoon in preparation for the Eau Claire game here Saturday. They tried to "run away" with the second team, but found they were harder than they looked, especially "Ed." Smith, end, and Joe Wrend, quarter. The second team held the regulars so tight that only one touchdown was scored. They did not, however, play a regular game, but showed good playing on the subs' side. "Happy" Smith played a good practice game at half. He will probably play right half in the game Saturday with Eau Claire if John Gunderson's leg is not better by Friday night. He had his knee hurt in the Stoughton game here last Saturday.

If Happy goes to right half, his big brother, Ed., will replace him. Ed. is an end, and it would be hard to find a man equal to him. In Saturday's game, he made some of the prettiest tackles ever witnessed by spectators of a high school game. The team is very much weakened by the injuries received in the Stoughton game.

On the sick list is Johnny Degan, star guard. He was reported to Coach Endres as rapidly improving. He was not at school Wednesday, so it is not known whether he will be in his old position Saturday or not.

Ray Sennett, guard, is still limping around with a bad knee which he received last week in scrimmage. "Red" Johnson, tackle, is also laid up with an injured knee. Mathison, tackle, has a bad ankle. He sprained it in last Saturday's game. He probably will not play against Eau Claire. "Bud" Walsh, quarter, got his lip badly cut Tuesday night in a fall. "Chubby" Goodlad was knocked out Tuesday night at practice while trying to tackle Joe Wrend.

If the first five men do not turn up Saturday, Madison high will be badly crippled at the loss of these men, and chances of winning will be less. Eau Claire is said to have a fair team this year and is after the championship which Superior won last year by defeating the Yellow and Black, 47 to 7, at Camp Randall. Madison beat Eau Claire, 7 to 5 last year.

ZUPPKE SHIFTS LINE-UP FOR WISCONSIN TILT

URBANA, Ill.—With Carney, all-American end, Crangle, all-Western fullback, and three other first-string players in the scrub outfit, Zuppke has started his campaign to beat Wisconsin.

The Badgers have unset Illinois for the past two years and if the Illinois score in the game in the game with Iowa Saturday is indicative of her strength, Wisconsin stands a good chance of repeating.

Some of the changes which Zuppke made in his lineup last week were due to his desire to train capable substitutes while other changes were the result of dissatisfaction with his men. The latter changes may be permanent.

Crangle, Carney, and Olander are certain to return to the varsity before the Wisconsin game. Reichle, however, has been replaced by Ott Bauer, a sophomore, who may bet a permanent job. Bauer replaced Reichle at guard late in the Iowa game and during the short time he was in the game gave Slater the only real resistance that he met.

In the backfield Zuppke placed Woodward, substitute fullback, at halfback. Woodward is not as fast as the other members of the backfield, but is a strong man on interference.

First Interclass Field Meet Here Saturday

The first inter-class field and track meet will be held at the university Saturday afternoon. Some 201 have signed to enter the meet but with the preponderence of entries from the underclasses it appears that the honors will go to either the freshmen or sophomores.

Great Volo Is Easy Winner At Atlantic Circuit

Outclasses Field in 2:12 Trot; Edna Early is Victor

ATLANTA, Ga.— Little competition developed in the grand circuit races here on Wednesday. In the 2:12 trot the Great Volo easily outclassed the field and won in straight heats.

In the free for all trot, Cox, who had piloted the Great Volo, drove Colorado to three successive victories though he was pushed in the second heat by Charley Rex and compelled to step a mile in 2:04¾.

Edna Early, driven by Thomas, won the first two heats of the 2:03 pace pdetty much as she pleased but was outraced by Hazel Kuestner in the third heat. Peter Manning, bay gelding of the Murphy stables, was sent against the local track record of 1:59 and incidentally to try to beat his own world's trotting record of 1:57¾ made a fortnight ago at Lexington, but the best Murphy could do with him on Wednesday was 1:59¾.

T. K. E. Leads Second Division of League

Tau Kappa Epsilon maintained its lead in the second division of the interfraternity bowling league by winning three straight games from Phi Delta Phi on Tuesday evening. T. K. E. is the only team to hold a 1000 per cent average. Phi Delta Phi offered but little resistence to the pin smashers of T. K. E. and was completely subdued after the first game.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon received a scare when, after copping the first game, Delta Sigma Phi came back and won the second. However, this sprint was short lived and the S. A. E. bowlers managed to win the deciding game quite handily. Beta came out from under and won the first game by a large margin of spare pins, but the Theta Chis came back strong in the second and third games and handed Betas the short end of both games. A. T. O. defeated the Triangle bowlers in the first and third games, dropping the second by a number of pins. Theta Xi took the D. K. E. aggregation in by winning the first and third games.

The standings of the second division is as follows:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
T. K. E.	9	0	1000
Phi Delta Phi	6	3	.667
Cheta Chi	6	3	.667
Theta Delt	6	3	.667
A. T. O.	5	4	.556
Theta Xi	5	4	.556
S. A. E.	4	5	.444
Triangle	4	5	.444
Alpha Delt	2	7	.222
Delta Sigma Phi	2	7	.222
D. K. E.	1	8	.111
Beta	1	8	.111

Maroons and Tigers Gird For Battle

Neither the Maroons nor the Tigers appear to feel over-confident as the day of the great inter-sectional struggle draws near. Coach Stagg's eleven is way off form, while Coach Bill Roper is making a mighty effort to correct a few of the many faults that were brought out in their game against the Navy last week.

Tiger stock was boosted yesterday when Garrity and Lourie, two of the biggest stars in the east, assumed their regular places in the lineup. Both appeared to have practically recovered from the injuries received a couple of weeks ago, and are almost sure of being in the lineup that faces the Maroons next Saturday. The absence of these two men was keenly felt last Saturday, and the new enthusiasm which their presence has created among the players will make the Tigers put up a much better exhibition than they did last week.

The Princeton lineup will probably be as folows: Tyson and Stinson, ends; Kech and Hooper, tackles; Von Schilling and Morgan, guards; Wittmer, center; Gilroy and Newby, halves; Lourie, quarterback; Garrity, fullback.

Coach Stagg, on the other hand, is more undecided on his lineup than he has been at any time this season. King at center and McGuire at tackle appear to be the only men who are sure of starting the game. Either Lewis, Fletcher, or Leatherman will be assigned the other tackle position. Redmon, Fletcher, Dawson, Rohrke, and Proudfoot seem to be the best bets for the guard positions; the first appearing to have a slight edge. Crisler, and Strohmeier will handle the wing positions.

Stagg's greatest problem seems to lie in the selection of the backfield. He has three complete sets of backs, none of which appears to have an edge over the other. Romney apparently will retain the quarterback position. The Cole-Zorn-Bryan backfield combination is likely to be the one which will face the Tigers on the opening kickoff.

While Princeton seems to have a slight edge over the Maroons at present, Coach Stagg is by no means whipped, and he is liable to send on to the field Saturday a team which will in no wise resemble the outfit that has performed in such a ragged manner on the midway during the past week.

Two Fast Bouts On Friday Card At Turner Hall

Wallace to Meet Good Boy in Leonard; Arrah Fights Evers

Otto Wallace-Carl Leonard and George Arrah-Johnny Evers bouts, the windup and semi-windup of Jack Boyd's first Turner hall card of the season, should prove to be crammed full of punishment for at least two of the principles, Friday night. The fights will start promptly at 8:30 Leonard is a faster man than he has often been given credit for being, and he is likely to give Wallace a good run for his money.

Arrah, who has displayed his wares against a foe here this past summer, will step out in fast company when he takes on Johnny Evers of Chicago in the semi. They will meet at 124 pounds. Jack Bitney and Young Diersey will mix it in the second bout of the card, which is to be opened by a four round match between Leo Trainor and Young Schneider of Lodi.

Smith Outclasses Jimmy Muzzy; McCue Defeated

RACINE, Wis.—Matty Smith surprised everyone here Wednesday night by shading Jimmy Muzzy of Milwaukee in the 10 round windup that featured the opening show of the new Racine Boxing club.

Jack Zalise sprung the other surprise of the night by slamming Matty McCue for a 10 round verdict. The Racine veteran took a good whipping in nearly every round. Zalise boxed better than he has ever done, and there was no doubt about the winner at the finish.

The fourth round was curtains for Joe Martin in his bout with Jack Duffy. After being knocked down for the nine count in the third round, Martin took the full count in the next session. Vic Gulbransen outpointed Billy Gebb in a pleasing four round opener.

Stage Set for North Atlantic Event Saturday

HALIFAX, N. S.—Rival crews of the two contenders for the 1921 championship of the North Atlantic fishing fleet—the Gloucester schooner Elsie and htr Nova Scotian challenger Blue Nose—were astir early today and eager to put their craft in trim for Saturday's tussle.

IOWA CITY, Ia.—The University of Iowa is recovering from the Iowa-Illinois football game held at Iowa City last Saturday and has hopes for conference championship.

Rickard Seeks Dempsey Signature to Meet Jess

CHICAGO— Tex Rickard, boxing promoter, conferred with Jack Kearns, manager for Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, here on Wednesday, in an effort to obtain Dempsey's signature of a contract for a championship contest with Jess Willard next July. The men will confer again on Thursday, Rickard said. He will return to New York Thursday afternoon.

Willard already has signed for the bout. No specific date has been proosed for the contest and Rickard is undecided as to where it would be held. Willard has not boxed publicly since he lost the championship to Dempsey at Toledo two years ago.

"When did 'Bull' Montana, that grizzled movie star, join the Badger football team?" queried an actor who was watching the squad at Camp Randall. He was looking at "Kibo" Brumm.

Badger Basket Men Primed To Win Conference

Meanwell Men Have Been Reporting for Last Two Weeks

While Wisconsin basketball players have been reporting to Coach W. E. Meanwell for at least two weeks, Northwestern and Indiana issued their first call for Varsity candidates early this week. So far as is known, other Big Ten conference schools are keeping the indoor game in the background until the western football championship has been settled, but it is entirely probable that those with good chances for the title will begin work very soon.

Only two regulars of last year, ex-captain "Cop" Taylor and "Duke" Ceaser, are working out with the Wisconsin quintet at present. "Rollie" Williams is busy with his halfback position on the football eleven and "Gus" Tebell, sub guard last year, is another grid regular who will not be able to report after November 19. Frawley and "Les" Gage, who were on the squad last season, are aspiring for regular berths this year. With this array of veterans and a number of promising additions to the squad, Coach Meanwell has enough material to mold another championship team.

"Bill" Feirn, lanky sophomore, who learned his basketball under "Vic" Hemming, former Badger center, Johnson, Foy, Gibson, and Bareis ares all making a strong bid for places on the squad.

At Indiana, Coach George Levis, former Wisconsin basket star, called 16 Varsity basketball men for the first workout of the season. Three veterans, Cox, Maynard, and Thomas, and two candidates, Bahr and Eberhardt, of last year's freshman team, will not report until the end of the football season.

With these experienced candidates, Busby, Hauss, Buckner, Aldridge, Marson from last year's Varsity team, and Crowe, Sanford, Houston, Coffey, May, and Kimberline from the 1921 freshman team, the Hoosiers will be well fortified on the basketball court during the coming season. Thomas wil be the only first string man from the 1921 Varsity quintet, however.

Marson, flashy forward, is out for the team, but heart trouble will make it impossible for him to stand the gaff of a hard conference game. He was easily the star of last year's Varsity. DeHority, this year's captain-elect, left Indiana to attend Harvard, and a new leader for the squad will be selected.

Levis Successful

Coach George Levis had much success in his first year as a Big Ten basketball coach. During the first half of last season, his team set the circuit afire and was up in the first division practically all of the time. The quintet turned itself out because of the unaccustomed pace for Indiana, and the last part of the year was somewhat of a disppointment to Coach Levis.

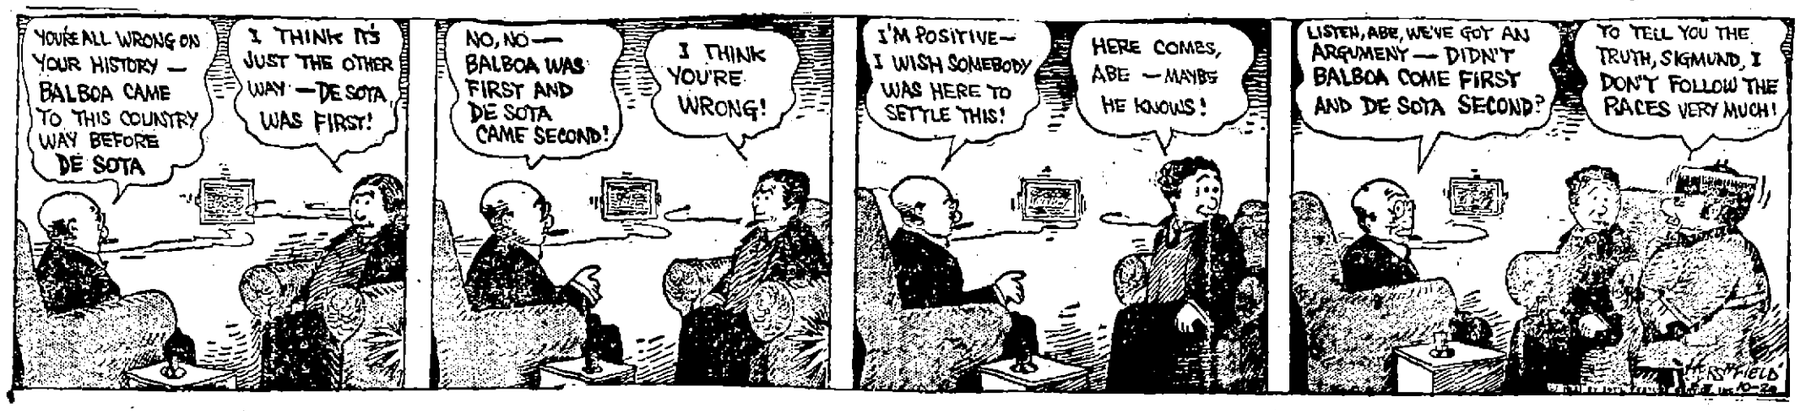

NEW YORK—Lew Tendler, Philadelphia lightweight, and Rocky Kansas of Buffalo, were expected to arrive here today to put finishing touches on training for their 15 round bout tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden. Both fighters were reported in excellent condition. Tendler has been established a two to one favorite.

News of the Markets

Report for October 20.

Wheat Scores A Moderate Rally; Shorts Covering

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO — Wheat scored a moderate rally today chiefly as a result of covering by shorts. Predictions in some quarters that a general railroad strike would yet be averted counted somewhat as a bullish factor. Besides, hope was expressed for a fair export business today. Opening prices which varied from unchanged to 1½ higher with Dec. 1.04@¼; May 1.08@¼ were followed by numerous changes with the initial range. Corn and oats paralleled the action of wheat.

Subsequently the market made a further ascent influenced more or less by prospective reduction of winter wheat acreage, but export call was rather slow and prices declined in the late dealings. Closing quotations were unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to ½c higher Dec. 1.03¾ @ 1.04 and May 1.08¾ @ ¾.

CORN—Corn started ⅛@¼@⅜ cents up December 45¾ @⅞ and then continued to harden.

Better shipping demand from New England helped to sustain the corn market at the last. Prices closed firm ⅜ @ ⅝ cents net higher with Dec. 46.

OATS— Oats were ⅜ cents higher at the outset, December 32¼ and later scoring additional gains.

PROVISIONS — Provisions were firm.

Waupaca and Northern Wisconsin Loading Points:

Warehouse prices to farmers: With only moderate amount of hauling by growers to warehouse no sag in prices noted in the Northern Wisconsin growing sections. Market for stock on this basis remains dull. Bulk Round Whites, U. S. Grade No. 1 bringing at Waupaca $1.55 to $1.60. All other warehouse points same stock ranged from as low as $1.40 to as high as $1.70. The general average for Warehouse prices to growers however remains around $1.50. Growers are not apparently over-anxious to sell their stock on this price.

Carlot sales. Very light wire inquiry for stock on this basis during past twenty-four hours from outside markets resulted in slow demand and movement. Market being dull and quiet, prices however do not reflect this to a great extent as no great declines being registered on the few sales made. U. S. Grade No. 1 sacked Round Whites brought $1.75 to $1.80 on this carlot basis. Range for stock on this basis narrowing down but no declines registered.

Other shipping points: Demand and movement is improving in the Grand Rapids section and prices are making a small advance on a slightly stronger market. Average prices for Round whites, carlot basis, sacked U. S. Grade No. 1, $1.80-$1.85. Far western shipping points are experiencing a very weak market, together with slow demand and movement has forced sales for Round Whites U. S. Grade No. 1 down to where most shipments on carlot basis are moving on a basis of $1.00.

Chicago: 29 Wisconsin arrivals, 461 cars on track. White stock, demand and movement moderate, market weak. Red Varieties, demand and movement good, market steady; Carlots outweight. WISCONSIN bulk Round Whites U. S. Grade No. 1 $1.70 to $1.80; sacked Round Whites U. S. Grade No. 1, $1.80 to $1.95; North Dakota and Minnesota Red River Ohio's bulk U. S. Grade No. 1 and partly graded $1.75 to $1.85.

Carlot shipments for U. S. past 24 hours: Colorado 16, Iowa 2, Michigan 18, Minnesota 16, New York 109, Penna. 9, Washington 2, Wisconsin 39. TOTAL 211.

Prices to Farmers Wisconsin Shipping Points

New London: U. S. Grade No. 1 Danish, bulk per ton $25.00. Demand good, market declining.

Somers: U. S. Grade No. 1 Danish, bulk per ton $27, U. S. Grade No. 1 Domestic $18. Demand fair, market good.

Hortonville: For cabbage going into storage prices ranged about $25 for U. S. Grade No. 1.

General Conditions for Wisconsin: During the past few weeks there has been considerable amount of cabbage going into warehouses, the better grades because of their keeping quality. Field men report that farmers going over their fields again are finding considerable amount of cabbage now good which was considered a loss two weeks ago. Quality in general is improving for all sections, while prices have declined later reaction is expected by the growers later in the season.

Chicago: 2 Wisconsin arrivals. 27 cars on track, demand and movement moderate, market steady. Jobbers sales; WISCONSIN bulk per ton Danish type $40.00.

Lawrence Case Was Based Upon Falsehoods, Claim

damages due Mr. Lawrence. The publishing company is not defending the suit.

Among the most important testimony was that of Henry Noll, then editor of The Madison Democrat, no longer published; of Patrick Powers, policeman, who was called to the scene of the accident and took the body in the patrol to Powers,' of Carl Fuss, caretaker at Forest Hill cemetery, and of Joseph Stephens, who was working with Mr. Lawrence at the time the accident occurred.

Mr. Lawrence himself was the second person to be put on the stand. He testified that on the afternoon of his uncle's death he was working with Mr. Stephenson, William Williams, now dead, one or two others, in the store room of the Fitch undertaking rooms and that about 6 o'clock Henry Noll came in and told him that a man, whom he believed to be "your Uncle Dick," had been killed by a train, and the body taken to Powers.' Mr. Noll then suggested, said Mr. Lawrence, that they both walk down to Powers' to identify the body. Mr. Lawrence did not see the body at Powers' but identified it by some pictures found in the pockets of a coat the dead man had worn. The body was then placed in the patrol, which was still there and taken to the Fitch undertaking rooms, where Mr. Lawrence first saw the body of his uncle and recognized it.

Mr. Lawrence declared that the body was by no means so mangled that it could not easily be recognized, and that he had never attempted to prevent any member of the Lawrence family or anyone else from seeing it. Mr. Lawrence declared that he does not know any man named Robert May, who, according to stories published in the Evening American, gave a sworn statement that he was there when the body was brought in, and that it was so mangled that it had to be wrapped up in oilcloth, making a bundle about 2 feet long, 3 feet wide and 18 inches thick. Mr. Noll, Mr. Stephenson and Patrick Powers, all testified that they saw no man named Robert May at the undertaking rooms.

Questioned about his financial affairs Mr. Lawrence told the court that at the time of his uncle's death and up to a few months ago, he had owned one share in the Fitch Undertaking Co. He owned only this one share at the time of the investigation last winter, he stated. The Willys-Knight sedan now owned by the company was exchanged for a Dodge Sedan the company bought in July 1918, and Mr. Lawrence paid the difference in price with some money left him by Mrs. Helen Lawrence, an aunt, of whose will Gerrit Corscot was executor. Mr. Lawrence emphatically denied that he had ever, as alleged in the stories, circulated in the American, tipped any one $20.

The stories of Mr. Lawrence's midnight expeditions to the grave were exploded by the testimony of Stuart Bailey, taxi driver for the Kingston company, who declared that he often drove Mr. Lawrence to the train, but that he never had taken him to the cemetery after seven in the evening. Mr. Bailey testified that he had been visited by a reporter from the Chicago American, who made remarks to the effect that if they could get enough evidence in the case there would be money in it.

A large number of telegrams sent by John F. Delancy, reporter for the American, who it is alleged, manufactured the mystery, to the American, were offered as exhibits and Charles O'Brien, manager of the Postal Telegraph Co., through which they were sent, was called on to testify. One of the telegrams bearing on the Lawrence case was sent by E. R. Moak, managing editor of the Wisconsin State Journal.

Carl Fuss, caretaker at Forest Hill, declared that he would certainly have been aware of it, by the condition of the ground, had the grave of Richard Lawrence been tampered with. He explained that he was watching the grave because Mrs. Lawrence had told him she suspected that her husband had been murdered and that the grave might be tampered with.

Dist. Atty. Theodore G. Lewis, who conducted an investigation at the time the stories appeared, declared on the stand that he did not at any time have enough information to warrant charging anyone with any crime in connection with the case.

Other witnesses were Dr. W. W. Gill, Maj. W. F. Lorenz, whose examination of Lawrence's body finally fixed the cause of death as due to injuries received when run down by the train, William T. Evjue, Miss Mamie Dearoff, of the Central Wisconsin Trust Co., Charles F. Lamb, Thomas Reynolds, Edward O'Connell, Gerrit F. Corscot, George Riley, Judge Henry Casson and O. M. Nelson. The case was continued to Thursday morning.

STOUGHTON—The fire alarm was sounded at 4 p. m. yesterday and the department was called to the shops of the Moline Plow Co. on E. South st. The spectacular performance of the Wisconsin entries is of international importance. The Holstein-Friesian Breeders' association of Wisconsin and the allied county organizations, which made possible the showing of the 35 head from the herds of Wisconsin breeders, have in one stroke of co-ordinated co-operative effort again focused attention on Wisconsin as the premier Holstein breeding state of the union."

Young men were interested yesterday in opening some cigarettes that possessed worms and bugs. The bugs were small as a bed bug and not so lively. Under the microscope they looked like a potato bug. His brother Harold Turner lives at Lake Kegonsa on one of the Turner properties. He acquied 160 acres of land uncleared, made improvements upon it, then this past year a man came along and offered him $60 an acre. He made the investment five years ago. Corn and oats and hay turned out well this past season and prospects are good for next year. The subsoil is of clay, hence it can hold moisture better than the sandy soil at other points. Mr Turner is now secretary of the Rusk Co. Farm bureau. Mr. Clarke thinks that any one seeking good land need not go outside of the state of Wisconsin to obtain it.

Edwin Booth Society Initiate 5 Members

Five pledges of Edwin Booth club were initiated last night after a banquet held at the Woman's building. Those initiated were Keith Davis '24, Laurens Hastings '24, Cyrus Marshall '23, Richard McCaffery '24, and J. Stuart Hamilton '22.

Dean S. H. Goodnight, Prof. J. M. O'Neill, Prof. Gertrude Johnson, Mather Guerin '22, and Dorothy Dwight '22 made short after dinner speeches at the banquet, at which Ralph Schempling '23, president of Edwin Booth, presided.

As an initiation stunt the pledges presented John Drinkwater's one act play "A Night of the Trojan War," coached by Henry Rubel '23. The play treats in very powerful manner the waste of art and culture in useless war.

MOSCOW—Nikolai Lenine, Russian soviet premier, reviewed Russia's communistic efforts today in a long article published by Pravda, the Soviet newspaper. "The October revolution," writes Premier Lenine, "has overthrown feudalism and barbaric capitalism, which were impediments to Russian culture. We did this more thoroughly than did the French revolution or the English revolution of 1688. After four years we are sure we are right. Moreover, we have never feared issues as have the western countries. We have been especially successful with the religious and feminist problems. We have eliminated both ignorance and also the shame of inequality between man and woman. We alone have given freedom to Russian Nationalities for the establishment of autonomous government."

22 North Hancock

Public Welfare Association is Doing a Great Work in This Community; Children's Work is Valuable

A year ago The Capital Times printed an editorial entitled "22 North Hancock" concerning the annual tag day of the Public Welfare association. The members of the Public Welfare association in charge of the tag day next Saturday have requested The Capital Times to republish the editorial which appeared last year. The editorial follows herewith—The Editor.

DOWN at 22 North Hancock street stands a building which has become a clearing house for this community's people who are in trouble.

Here is an institution which has started many an unfortunate family toward a happier life; many a young lad headed toward viciousness because of poverty or disease has been rebuilt into a better boy; many a mother, compelled to work for a living, has been enabled to keep up a semblance of home ties because of the splendid work that radiates through this community from 22 North Hancock street.

We refer to the work that is being done by the Public Welfare association which will have its annual tag day on Saturday.

* * *

Every afternoon, six days of the week, nearly a score of little kiddies are tucked into bed at 22 North Hancock for an afternoon nap. There they are, safe and snug, while a score of mothers are in office and restaurant and laundry laboring to keep mother and baby out of want.

We wish that every person in Madison, could see these kiddies some afternoon at the Public Welfarehouse on Hancock street. Every person who has a drop of human kindness in his heart would respond generously to the annual appeal of the Public Welfare association could they know of the noble work that is being carried on by this organization.

And the work of the association in taking care of the children of working women in the public nursery each day is only one of a number of benevolent activities carried on by the organization.

* * *

The general scope of the work of the organization has been well described by the secretary who says:

> "The name of our organization typifies the inclusive quality of our work. We want to be of assistance to every citizen who needs care, who needs someone with whom to counsel, who is involved in debt to his despair, whose children need safeguarding during the hours of employment or need special medical attention beyond his ability to provide, whose growing boys and girls present perplexities, whose home is threatened by distress of any kind. We do not expect to cure every evil but discussion often clarifies, and frequently, the anguish of mind is dissipated, the client returning to his task with courage and a will to succeed."

And so this organization goes out into this community and ministers to those who are in trouble and distress.

An eye, ear and nose clinic offers health to the children whose parents are unable to pay specialists' fees. There are many children in Madison, as in any other community, where life is being stunted and little bodies affected by poison slowly seeping into the system from defective tonsils.

The dental clinic tries to find the boy of poor parentage whose defective teeth are thwarting a healthy physical development.

The Service shop of the organization has undertaken to provide people with opportunities to buy clothing and other necessities at prices which they can pay.

These are only a few of the activities being carried on by the Public Welfare association. The organization is a Big Brother and a Big Sister to Madison's unfortunates.

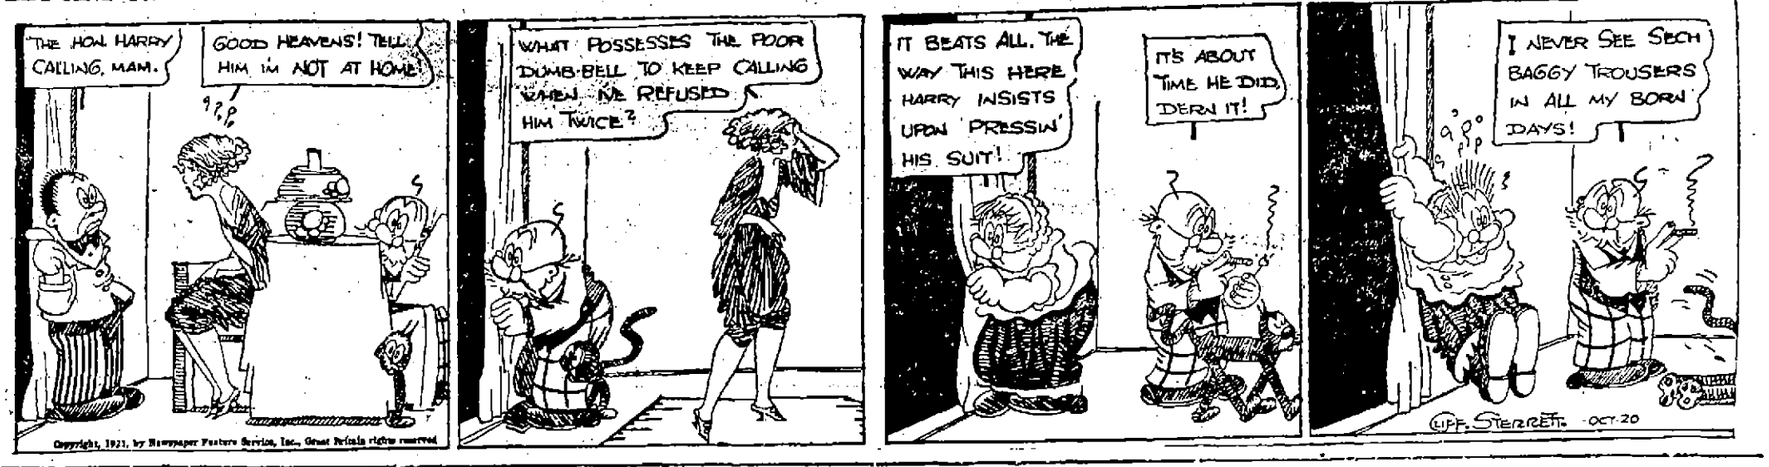

Madison is always big hearted in things of this kind. Surely this community will dig down Saturday and make generous contributions to the taggers who will be out in behalf of the Public Welfare association.

One rebuilt boy, one mother able to keep her baby with her at night, one family turned from discouragement and debt into happiness and contentment,—these are good investments for a community. And the Public Welfare organization does this work in manifold number.

We believe that Madison will generously help the little fellow on crutches and the mother struggling for her baby on Saturday.

Urges Strictness With Student Offenders

(An Editorial From the Daily Cardiinal)

WHILE it is yet early in the season a definite stand ought to be taken on a question that assumed serious proportions last year. That is the question of personal and business dishonesty on the part of students.

Last year the merchants of Madison lost around $1,000 in forged checks alone, the forgeries being committed by university students. Petty larceny also was much too common. This is an appalling record. It constitutes a problem which any self-respecting university must meet.

It is not enough for the faculty to take action. Forging checks and petty larceny are violations of the law of the land as well as violations of the the standards of probity demanded by the university officials.

There seems to have been an impression in some quarters that students caught in such violations of the law should be dealt with more gently than their erring brothers outside the pale of college life. This is an unsound doctrine in principle and it works a positive injustice to the 99 per cent of students who suffer when the few bring shame upon the university.

There is some justification for special clemency in cases where harmless college pranks lead students into minor trespasses. But the college student and the ordinary sitizen stand on the same ground when it comes to a case of forging checks and shoftlifting. Equality before the law cannot be abrogated in favor of one or the other.

The only way to prevent a recurrence of last year's record is for student opinion to support the vigorous and fearless prosecution to the limit of every student who acts in violation of the law. The authorities may rest assured that the great mass of students are for justice in such cases, let it lead where it will.

ON THE SIDE

MUSIC

Grand Opera is mighty fine,
And soon it will be all the rage.
It's quite the most expensive line
Of music that's sung on the stage.
It's called the standard, but for mine,
I much prefer the narrow gauge.

I guess it's pretty plain to see
That I am not much of a hand
For airs from France and Italy.
The kind of music I call grand,
And that which makes a hit with me,
Is singing I can understand.

I don't pretend to be a shark
On technique or capriccio,
And I am rather in the dark
On measures malincolico.
I know I'm an old-fashioned mark,
Because my wife has told me so.

But still, should you ask me today
What is the real and oply thing
In music, 'cording to my way
Of figurin' it out, by jing,
I guess I would have to say
The songs my mother used to sing.

HOW I LOVE YOU

Your hair is brilliant as the matin sun,
And yet I do not love you for your hair.
Your mouth is like an amaranth, dear one,
And yet I love you not because 'tis fair.
Your eyes are brighter than the stars above,
Your lovely skin is white, like ivory!
And yet I for none of these things love,
But bless a beauty the eyes cannot see.
I love you for the kindly soul in you;
The generous smile, and sympathetic tear;
The steadfast heart beneath, forever true;
The deeds that prove the source to be sincere.
I love you for such virtues as change never,
That I may love you truly, and forever!

RUMINATIONS OF A SAPP

The government would become very rich if every man had to pay an income tax on the salary he thinks he is worth.

In England they have discovered that insanity is a cause of divorce. And in some cases it is the cause of marriage!

A man who loses his temper loses the only thing that is worth keeping.

A cynic is a man who has at some time been some woman's fool there was.

Don Murphy Will Be Carnival Chairman

The Homecoming Feature Carnival, the new free attraction for this year's Homecoming which will be held in the gymnasium Friday night, Oct. 28, just after the bonfire, is in charge of Don B. Murphy '22, chairman, Henry Capon '22, assistant chairman, Louis Meek '22, Harry McMurray '22, David Rowland '22, James Sutton '25, and David Wheeler '25.

Taking the place of the Engineers minstrels, the Homecoming Feature carnival is patterned after one of the main traditional events of homecoming acitivites in eastern schools. "Next to the football game we intend to make the Homecoming Feature carnival the biggest attraction for Wisconsin's annual event," said Don Bailey, chairman of the carnival committee. "The Feature carnival will be composed of vaudeville acts, staged in a more or less informal manner, and designed to fit in with the Homecoming spirit."

Five Cups Offered For Homecoming House Decorations

Five silver cups, to be on display at the Chocolate shop next week, will be given this year for the five best decorated houses at Homecoming. Besides a first and second prize for sorority houses, and the same for fraternities, there is a cup for the best decorated rooming-house. Any house, whatever its size or location, is urged to compete.

The judges, who will award the prizes Friday night, Oct. 28, are Dean F. W. Roe, Major John S. Wood, and Professor William H. Varnum of the Arts department. The basis for choice will be how well the decorated houses express the spirit of Homecoming. All houses intending to compete should notify George Parker '22, so that the judges will not by any chance overlook some of them in their tour of inspection Friday night.

Casts Are Picked For Red Domino Plays

Pauline Ambrose '23, and John Beffel '23 will take the leading parts in "Boccaccio's Untold Tale," a tragedy, one of the three plays to be presented by Red Domino on the concert room of Lathrop hall.

The part of the peace-seeking butler in the comedy, "Fipps," will be played by William Purnell '21. Christine Affeld '23 will take the part of the Lady, and Wells Carberry '21, of the Lord.

Olivia Fentress '23 will be the shepherd, and Margaret Emmerling '23 will be the princess in a pantomime entitled, "A Shepherd in the Distance."

Jack o' lanterns, goblins, witches, and other Hallowe'en mysteries will lend a spooky atmosphere to the Delta Zeta house on Saturday evening when members of the sorority entertain with an informal dancing party. Miss Sara Stinchfield, and Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Whitehead will act as chaperons.

Mabel Garrison to Sing Tonight; Radio Will Carry Concert

Mabel Garrison, who appears this evening in what critics say will be one of the best musical programs Wisconsin has heard in years, will arrive in Madison this morning having quite recovered from the recent illness which prevented her expected appearance here a short while ago.

Advance criticisms of Miss Garrison's work are without exception in declaring her to be one of the finest English speaking singers at the present time, and her recent appearance in London was abundant proof to the English critics of the high level to which American vocal art has developed. Her recitals there were met with unrestricted praise, and she was referred to as one of the few sopranos who are able to sing Mozart's larger arias.

Outing Club Meeting is Postponed a Week

Outing club meeting, which was announced for tonight, has been postponed until next Wednesday evening, because of the Y. W. C. A. banquet, the Garrison concert, and the Union Memorial drive meetig, which are scheduled for tonight.

"We are very desirous of having all the university girls out for the first meeting of the club," said Elizabeth Kirk '23, president, "and so we are putting it off until next week when there will not be any conflicting meetigs. No change has been made in the board meeting, however, which takes place Thursday noon at 12:45 on the fourth floor of Lathrop."
